Market Positioning & Product Architecture

A working document for decision. It sits before the Brand Guidelines: positioning, then product architecture, then brand expression, then collateral. The territory is decided: the coordinated American-oak interior, floor, wall, ceiling, kitchen and doors. Page 8 holds what remains.

DRAFT 1.2 · SEPTEMBER 2026 · DECISION 1 TAKEN · DECISIONS 2–4 AND CONFIRMATIONS 5–8 OPEN

The product has a name. The brand needs a decision.

The New Zealand flooring product is PrimeOak® Flooring, Signature Collection: An Cuong's registered product, in American Northern red oak from Michigan, designed and engineered in the United States. What decides the collateral is the relationship between Kember and An Cuong, which no document we hold sets out.

1 PrimeOak and Kember's E3plank share the same 4 mm face, 11 mm core, cut names and six colour names. They are very probably one product family under two brands. Kember has not confirmed it.

2 Three brand architectures are possible. The preferred one, subject to confirmation of what the Kember–An Cuong relationship permits, is Kember Interiors as the master brand carrying PrimeOak® as the named product.

3 The positioning territory is decided: one material language across the interior, defined as floor, wall, ceiling, kitchen and doors in one American red oak. The catalogue supports floor, stair and wall today; Kember's cabinetry and doors complete it. No tagline is proposed yet.

4 The product architecture is now application-led: Floor, Wall, Ceiling, Kitchen, Doors, each with an availability label and stair components under Floor. The launch colours are Courtney's decision, made with boards.

5 Three decisions remain for Courtney. Four confirmations must come from Kember and An Cuong before external collateral; kitchen and doors are in the brand's definition now, and their New Zealand availability is confirmation 8.

CONSTRUCTION AS THE CATALOGUE DRAWS IT

Two layers, not three. V1.2 draws the device from this.

WHAT NO SOURCE ESTABLISHES

- The contractual relationship between Kember and An Cuong, and who may use PrimeOak® in New Zealand.
- Where PrimeOak is manufactured.
- Whether E3plank and PrimeOak are the same product.
- Any New Zealand warranty, installer accreditation, slip-resistance result or Homestar / Green Star relevance.
- Kember's wall and ceiling lining specification.

SOURCES AND WEIGHT

- PrimeOak catalogue, An Cuong 2026: primary, full text; highest weight for product facts.
- kemberfloors.com, six captures: primary, partial; high for Kember's own claims.
- Indexed site extracts and retailer listings: secondary; reference only.
- Company records (Dun & Bradstreet, Panjiva, ImportGenius, kember.com.vn): low; origin only.

One product, two names. Probably.

Kember’s site sells E3plank. An Cuong’s catalogue sells PrimeOak. Dimensions, cuts and colour names line up closely enough that they are very probably one family. That is an inference; it stays out of collateral until confirmed.

POINTS OF AGREEMENT

CONFLICTS, FLAGGED NOT RESOLVED

ITEM	KEMBER SITE	CATALOGUE	CONSEQUENCE
Finish	Hardwax oil	UV lacquer, 9 layers, 5 % gloss	Different maintenance and claim; describe the shipped finish only.
Balancing layer	4 mm, named	Not named; core 11 / 15	Section device drawn from the shipped datasheet, not 4 : 11 : 4.
Warranty	Lifetime, maintained	2 / 2 or 15 / 5 by installer	No New Zealand term yet; none stated until written.
Name	E3plank™	PrimeOak®	One name in New Zealand; see page 5.
Origin	Not stated	Not stated	No origin claim; “designed and engineered in the United States” is the most both support.

INFERENCE

Shared face and core, shared cut vocabulary and six shared colour names make it very probable that PrimeOak Signature is E3plank’s family, made by or for An Cuong under An Cuong’s mark, with Kember as the North American design and sourcing partner. Kember’s Saint Charles, Michigan listing and the catalogue’s 120 km Michigan radius are consistent; Kember’s Vietnamese import records and kember.com.vn are consistent with manufacture in Vietnam, where An Cuong is based.

Not confirmed by either party. Not for collateral.

NAMES IN PLAY

Kember Interiors	The New Zealand brand; this system
Kember Kreative Interiors	The North American company; retired for NZ
An Cuong	Owner of PrimeOak®; author of the catalogue
Masterpiece Series	An Cuong’s luxury line that PrimeOak sits within
PrimeOak® Flooring	The product
Signature Collection	The twelve-colour range
E3plank™	Kember’s name for what is probably the same product

How the names appear on a page.

The question is not what Kember Interiors is called. It is how PrimeOak®, An Cuong, the Masterpiece Series and Kember Interiors appear on a New Zealand product sheet. Three architectures are possible.

OPTION A

Manufacturer brand, distributed

An Cuong PrimeOak® is the product brand; Kember Interiors is the New Zealand distributor. Collateral leads with PrimeOak and the Masterpiece Series; Kember appears as “distributed in New Zealand by”.

For. Honest to the mark; warranty and certifications attach to An Cuong; the catalogue can be reused.

Against. Kember Interiors becomes a footer logo, which defeats the brand system; An Cuong has no New Zealand recognition; the Masterpiece register and the catalogue’s design language are not the Kember system.

OPTION B

Kember-branded product

Kember Interiors owns the presentation; the flooring is “Kember [name] flooring, with PrimeOak® Core” or similar. An Cuong is named only on certificates and the warranty.

For. Strongest expression of the brand system; New Zealand-facing from the first page.

Against. Needs a licence to present An Cuong’s registered product under Kember’s name, which may not exist; risks the 15-year warranty if partner status is tied to An Cuong’s branding; creates a third name for one product.

OPTION C · PREFERRED, SUBJECT TO CONFIRMATION

Kember master brand, PrimeOak® named

Kember Interiors is the brand on every face. The flooring is named PrimeOak® Flooring as a product within Kember Interiors, with an attribution line in the technical block. An Cuong appears where certification, warranty or the mark require it, in technical style, never in the title block. Masterpiece Series is not used in New Zealand.

For. Uses the real name and its certifications without ceding the page; one name across Kember’s and An Cuong’s documents; needs a distribution and trademark-use agreement, not a rebrand licence; codes and datasheet values lift unchanged.

Against. Two names on the page need a fixed hierarchy; PrimeOak is a name Kember does not own and could lose.

CONDITIONS FOR OPTION C, ALL NEEDING WRITTEN CONFIRMATION FROM KEMBER

- 1 Kember Interiors may use the PrimeOak® mark in New Zealand collateral.
- 2 Whether Kember Interiors, or installers it accredits, can hold An Cuong Authorized Partner status for the 15 / 5-year warranty.
- 3 Whether “Masterpiece Series” must appear anywhere.
Recommendation: no.
- 4 The shipped specification for New Zealand: finish, thicknesses, formats, packs.

FLOORING - AVAILABLE IN NEW ZEALAND
PrimeOak® Flooring
Signature Collection

Three territories. One with room.

Tested against five criteria: true today from the evidence; room for the wider Kember range; distinct from Frevini; credible to a specifier; supported by assets we have or can make.

TERRITORY 1

Engineered American oak flooring

"American oak. Engineered for stability." The V1.1 working line. Narrow, true, provable.

True today, yes. Room to grow, no. Distinct from Frevini, partly. Specifier credibility, high. Assets, yes.

Verdict. A strong product-level message for flooring, not a master-brand position.

TERRITORY 2 · DECIDED

One material language across the interior

Floor, wall, ceiling, kitchen and doors in one American red oak, colour-matched from one range. The interior reads as one material because it is one. Stair components sit within floor.

True today, yes: matched stair parts, trims and panels are in the catalogue. Room to grow, the most. Distinct from Frevini, clearly: Frevini is European oak and flooring-led. Credibility, high: one material across floor, stair and joinery is a real specifier problem. Assets, partly.

Verdict. Decided, 28 September 2026. It turns a company name into a proposition.

TERRITORY 3

Precision-engineered interior systems

Kember as an engineering brand for interior components, oak being the first material.

True today, partly. Room to grow, large but abstract. Distinct, yes. Credibility, medium: a claim before it is a range. Assets, no.

Verdict. Not now. A later evolution of Territory 2 if Kember's non-oak capability comes to New Zealand.

THREE LAYERS, APPROVED SEPARATELY

Positioning territory	One material language across the interior: floor, wall, ceiling, kitchen and doors. Decided.
Proposition	Kember Interiors brings one American red oak to floor, wall, ceiling, kitchen and doors, colour-matched from a single range and engineered as all-oak construction. For Courtney to edit and approve.
Master expression	Still to develop. Working candidates only, none for approval: "One oak. The whole interior." · "Floor, wall, ceiling, kitchen, doors. One oak." · "American oak, floor to ceiling." Flooring line kept at product level.

REASONS TO BELIEVE, ALL FROM THE CATALOGUE

Michigan red oak, engineered in the United States · all-oak construction · matched stair parts, trims and panels in twelve colours; cabinetry, doors and wall panels in Kember's range · NAF, TSCA Title VI, F4 Star · up to 304 × 3600 mm.

AUDIENCE

Architects, interior designers and specifiers on high-value residential, multi-residential and hospitality work; then builders, installers and developers. The homeowner is reached through the specifier.

COMPETITIVE FRAME · NOT YET RESEARCHED

No New Zealand competitor scan has been done. A short scan of Forté, VidaSpace, BBS Timbers, Woodland Lifestyle and others precedes this territory becoming canonical; it could strengthen or weaken Territory 2. Differences checkable on a datasheet regardless: red oak from a named region; an oak core; matched components from one source; 304 × 3600 mm at 19 mm. The certifications are product facts; Homestar or Green Star credit is unverified and not claimed.

Brand, category, product, format.

Application-led, to match the decided territory. The five applications are the categories, each with its own availability label; stair components sit under Floor because they are matched to the flooring range. Kitchen and doors are in the brand's definition; whether they ship to New Zealand is confirmation 8.

RULES THAT FOLLOW

- PrimeOak codes are carried on datasheets and colour cards as An Cuong writes them: POF-ST-SR-S07.
- Colour names without "Oak": Naked, not Naked Oak.
- The E3plank name does not appear in New Zealand material. Where a Kember document using it must be cited, it is cited as a source.
- Kitchen and Doors keep the capability label until confirmation 8 changes it. Eplank, EcoKlik and KemLam stay outside the five applications as other Kember lines.
- Capability is never presented as stock.

THE TWELVE, FOR THE LAUNCH SELECTION · COURTNEY'S DECISION

S01 French White · S02 French Vanilla · S03 Mocha · S04 Pure · S05 Pearl · S06 Tailor Taupe · S07 Naked · S08 Natural · S09 Tawny · S10 Barn · S11 Burnt Copper · S12 Burnished Bronze. Catalogue swatches, screen reference only. A selection philosophy to test with boards: pale to dark without near-duplicates, weighted to likely New Zealand demand, filtered by stock, minimums and lead times.

GUIDELINES V1.2, IF ADOPTED

Proposition and master line replace the working expression · product architecture as this page · section device at true proportions · Application photography led by a matched stair-and-floor installation · PrimeOak® as a product name in H2 or H3, never a logo; An Cuong in technical style · colour, type, grid and voice unchanged.

What Courtney can decide now. What Kember must confirm.

Decision 1 is taken. The brand relationship blocks external collateral, not the remaining decisions: Courtney can make decisions 2 to 4 while Kember and An Cuong resolve the four confirmations.

DECISIONS FOR COURTNEY

#	DECISION	OPTIONS AND NOTE
1	Positioning territory	Decided, 28 September 2026. The coordinated American-oak interior: floor, wall, ceiling, kitchen and doors.
2	Product architecture and launch categories	Adopt page 7; decide which of the five applications launch, and whether stair components launch as available to order. Contents depend on confirmation 8.
3	Launch colour philosophy and selection	Any subset of S01–S12, chosen with physical boards, New Zealand demand and stock, minimums and lead times in hand. Not from swatches.
4	Master expression	After decision 1 is made. Working candidates on page 6 are inputs, not a shortlist for approval.

ALSO BEFORE COLLATERAL

- A short New Zealand competitor scan: Forté, VidaSpace, BBS Timbers, Woodland Lifestyle and others.
- How NAF, TSCA Title VI and F4 Star map, if at all, to Homestar and Green Star; slip-resistance data for commercial use.

CONFIRMATIONS FROM KEMBER AND AN CUONG

#	CONFIRMATION	WHAT IS NEEDED IN WRITING
5	Brand and trademark relationship	Whether Kember Interiors may use PrimeOak® in New Zealand; whether Masterpiece Series must appear; which of Options A, B or C is available. Blocks external collateral.
6	New Zealand warranty and installer model	Whether Kember Interiors, or installers it accredits, can hold An Cuong Authorized Partner status for the 15 / 5-year terms; the New Zealand warranty wording. No term is stated until then.
7	New Zealand shipped specification	Finish, thicknesses, formats, packs, datasheet. Supersedes both the Kember site and the catalogue where they differ.
8	Wall, ceiling, kitchen, doors and components	What ships to New Zealand under each application: panels and lining, cabinetry, interior doors, stair parts and trims; stock, minimums, lead times. Decides which labels move from capability to available.

PHOTOGRAPHY BRIEF, ONCE DECISIONS 1 AND 2 ARE MADE

- The five applications in one oak: floor with matched stair; wall and ceiling lining; a kitchen; an interior door. Wide straight plank under natural light.
- The launch colours as real boards. Nothing borrowed from the An Cuong catalogue.
